

Your Watch

If not in perfect order needs skill and experience to put in good repair and perfect running order.

I can now conscientiously say that we do first-class work, as I have recently secured the services of a very fine workman, of TWENTY YEARS EXPERIENCE to take charge of my repairing department, a man who can not only repair a watch in the best manner, but can manufacture a watch complete. With additional machinery and materials, I can say in all candor, that my facilities for making and repairing anything in the Watch, Clock, Jewelry, Silverware or Spectacle line cannot be excelled in the State.

The Indiana Union Soldiers' Reunion and Semi-annual Encampment of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, at Indianapolis, Sept. 21, 22 and 23, 1880—Camp Morton, Indiana State Fair and Exposition grounds and Building, Commandant of Camp, Gen. Geo. H. Chapman. Reduced rates on all railroads.

Four weeks from next Tuesday the tale will be told in Indiana, and what the result will be is now only to be surmised. Both parties are putting their best foot forward, and using the "sineurs" whenever and wherever they seem to be needed to accomplish the end sought. Our readers may confidently look forward to a very warm campaign from this on to the second Tuesday in November. The State will be deluged with speakers, while the array of processions, with banners, torch-lights and noise, will be up to the palmiest campaign within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Committees are at work; corals are being selected to safely "house" the unwary who love the juice of the corn; and spotters wise are making ready their records. Everything points to a spirited and well contested race at the polls, and the one thing lacking so far is the pool-box and auctioneer.

The arrangements are made, and the Indiana State House Commissioners have decided that the corner-stone of the new Capitol will be laid on the 28th inst., at 11 o'clock a.m. The ceremonies will not be elaborate, but it is hoped will be worthy of the dignity of the State and the occasion. Commissioner Thomas A. Morris will deliver the introductory address; Rev. J. H. Lynch will make the opening prayer; Ex-Governor T. A. Hendricks will deliver the oration; Mrs. L. T. Bolton will read an original and appropriate poem; Governor J. D. Williams will officially lay the corner-stone, and Bishop J. C. Talbot will pronounce the benediction. Music by Beissenherz's Band will be interspersed throughout the ceremonies. A stand will be erected for the speakers and musicians, and seats provided on it for all ex-Governors of this State, and Governors and ex-Governors of other States; State Officers; Members of Congress of this and other States; Judges of the Supreme Court and Supreme, Circuit and County Courts of the State; members of the present State Legislature and of 1877; editors and representatives of the press; and Mayors and Councils of the various cities of the State. The public generally is invited to attend. Seats will be provided for all. As the State Fair will be in progress all visitors can avail themselves of excursion rates on the railroads.

The Result in Maine.

The result of the State election in Maine, while not fully known with certainty, at this writing, was a surprise to every person. The Fusionists, (a union of the Greenback and Democratic parties), claimed before the election that their chance of carrying the State was good, but they made this claim so calmly, and almost noiselessly, that few placed any confidence in it. The Republicans, under the leadership of Senator Blaine, made a thorough canvass of the State, and claimed that they would carry the State by from 5,000 to 10,000. The betting men seemed to place confidence in these claims, and offered to place their money accordingly, but there were no takers. Now, right upon the heels of these claims of the opposing parties, comes the news that, so far as can be determined, there is a division of the spoils, the fusionists electing two Congressmen and the Governor, while the Republicans carry both branches of the Legislature. The state of the case is tersely stated by the following dispatch sent by Blaine to Garfield:

AUGUSTA, MAINE, Sept. 14.

Gen. J. A. Garfield, Mentor, O.—The

net result of yesterday's election, as nearly as can be stated at this hour (3 p. m. Tuesday), is about as follows: The Republicans have carried the First, Second and Third Congressional Districts, while the Fusionists have carried the Fourth and Fifth. The Republicans have carried both branches of the Legislature by a strong majority, reaching perhaps two-thirds of each house. On the present vote for Governor Davis and Plaisted have each over 72,000, with the probabilities in favor of Plaisted coming out a few hundred, perhaps a thousand, ahead. The result is undeniably a surprise to us and generally to the mass of the Democratic party in Maine. Our canvass was never more accurately taken, and it showed on Wednesday last a total vote for Davis of a trifle over 76,000, with a probable majority of 6,000 at the minimum. The six days preceding the election we lost over 3,000 votes by means well known to the managers of the National Democratic campaign, and which do not call for further specification from me. The total cost is variously estimated at from $70,000 to $100,000, and the money came from beyond the State. Such scenes were never before witnessed in Maine. J. G. BLAINE.

As a matter of interest, we give below the votes of the different parties in Maine in 1878, 1876 and 1879:

The vote of Maine for Governor in 1878 was as follows:

|-------------------------|--------|
| Garcelon, Democrat..... | 27,000 |
| Smith, National..... | 41,404 |
| Total opposition..... | 69,276 |
| Connor, Republican..... | 56,579 |

Opposition majority.....12,000

The vote for President in 1876, before the Greenback diversion, was as follows:

|--------------------------|--------|
| Hayes, Republican..... | 66,300 |
| Tilden, Democrat..... | 49,917 |
| Republican majority..... | 16,383 |

The total vote in the three years was as follows:

|-----------|---------|
| 1876..... | 117,043 |
| 1878..... | 125,825 |
| 1879..... | 138,335 |

LATEST.—The last word in regard to the result in Maine, is that Plaisted, the Fusion candidate for Governor, is elected by 1,500 majority. The Congressional delegation stands three Republicans and two Fusionists.

LATER.—The Republicans claim the election of Davis as Governor by about 1,400 majority.

Inherent Inhumanity.
 Clayton Hillsman, a negro boy, eleven years of age, stoned Dr. Hillsman's little three-year-old son to death at Culloden, Ga., on last Monday. Mrs. Hillsman set the negro boy to nurse the child while she took an after-dinner nap. When she woke up, several hours afterward, and asked for her child, she could get only evasive answers from the negro, and searching the premises, found the child in an old well. The face was covered with ghastly wounds and the back of the head was crushed in. Splashes of blood were found on the boy's clothing and face. On being confronted with the evidence Clayton made a partial confession, implicating another negro boy, whose name he could not give. He afterward confessed having committed the crime himself.
 What prompted the deed no one can tell. The negro is the son of a woman who killed two of her own children, and he himself choked his victim only a short time since.
 The crime, it seems, was committed by a lad eleven years old, and therefore, within the limit which the law describes. He can be tried, sentenced and hanged, but it is doubtful if such a sentence would be executed. Still, years ago, a child nine years of age was hanged in England, it being proved that he had committed murder, and afterward secreted himself. The Court held that in hiding himself he showed that he knew the difference between right and wrong, and was liable. In this instance the negro not only concealed the body, but trumped up a story, and, as afterward shown, left the patch by walking from the well entirely on his heels and stepping under cotton plants in order to conceal his tracks.
 The latest in regard to the above tragedy, is found in the dispatch we present below:
 ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—Clayton Hillsman, the colored boy who so brutally killed the three-year-old son of Mr. C. G. Hillsman, of Culloden, has been tried for the crime of murder and found guilty. Notwithstanding his youth (eleven years), the crime was so fiendish in conception, so brutal in execution, and so utterly unprovoked, that the jurors found no mercy in their hearts for the murderer. Judge Lawson passed sentence that Clayton Hillsman be hanged on Friday, October 29th next, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 p. m. in a private place. Mr. Hunt, attorney for the criminal, gave notice of a motion for a new trial, so that the execution will not occur at least until the Supreme Court has passed upon the case.

A SILENT PARTNER.
The Man Who Suffered from a Legislative Enactment.
 (Little Rock Gazette.)
 Old Dabbs and Jim Carter, two colored men, having grown tired of farming, came to this city and opened a kind of a grocery store. Dabbs was a shrewd bow-legged man, with broad feet, and a nose shaped like the half of a pear. Carter was younger and inexperienced. After the stock had been purchased, Dabbs remarked: "Carter, I's de olest. In dis case hits necessary for you to be de Jungier partner."
 "All right," said Carter, "I dont keer what my name is, but I wants half ob de money what comes in ober de counter."
 "Dat's a fack, Carter; yerl make a sharp business man. Dar's a lots ob niggers got their eyes on this store, but we'll fool em. Carter, does yer owe any man any debts in dis wurl?"
 "Lemme see; yes, I owes a man for a saddle blanket."
 "How long hab you owed him?"
 "Bout five years."
 "How much was it wurf?"
 "Bout two dollars."
 "Lemme count de intrust. Two is two, added onto de five, duplex fractions comin in twixt the two and five; complex cathartic fractions comin in twixt de duplex fractions. Nine's a nine wid ten as a podner. Ten goes way an leben stans up. Mr. Carter, yer owes dat man leben hundred dollars and a quarter."
 "How's dat?"
 "Why, cordin to de intrust. De intrust is awful heaby. Hit fairly makes a man sweat. Hit breaks up de white man and robs de nigger ob his labor. Dat man could come and break up our sto' He could sell us out. I heard a plantation negre talkin bout us yesterday. Now if yer wuz de segnier podner, which means the olest, de man couldn't do nothin. Dats de fault ob de law. De Legislature is a awful lot ob rascal fellows. Well now yer must be my silent podner. Does yer heah?"
 "Ts tisenin."
 "Den de man can't tech yer. I's got a head as long as a watermillion. Well, now lemme read yer dis paper."
 Then Dabbs read the following:
 Dis heah is ter certify dat Dabbs and Carter is podners. Dabbs is de action podner, an Carter is de silent podner. Dis is also ter certify dat so soon as Dabbs quits bein de action podner de whole sto longs to Carter, and when Carter quits bein de silent podner, widout anudder greement, de sto all longs ter Dabbs.
 "Dis were wrote up by a cullud lawyer," said Dabbs. "Sign de paper."

 The two men signed the instrument and called in witnesses. Next morning Dabbs came down to the store early, and when Carter arrived all the witnesses were sitting in the store room.
 "Good morning, Dabbs," said Carter. Dabbs didn't say anything and Carter continued: "Why de deuce didn't yer speak ter me?"
 "De sto is all mine," said Dabbs arising and turning to the witnesses.
 "How's dat," asked Carter.
 "Case yer's no longer a silent podner. Yer's talkin. When a man talks he isn't silent. Yerl please leab my sto Carter, and go off down in de country. Ef yer'd a stuck to yer greement eberyting would a been all right. Hits plain ter be secd dat yer wout."
 Carter appealed to the witnesses, but was informed that he had broken silence and of course was no longer a part owner. The disconsolate man left. He is now a candidate for the Legislature, and swears that if elected, he will work for the repeal of the law.

Fashionable Galveston young lady at a sociable gathering remarks jestingly to Gilhooly: "I wonder how much I would bring if I was put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder?"  Mary Welch, an old lady one hundred and seven years of age, died a few days ago at Seymour, Conn. She was one of a family of fourteen daughters and one son, all of whom it is believed are dead. The old lady attended the funeral of one of her sitters, who was more than eighty years old, about a year ago. The centenarian died of old age rather than of any physical ailment.

There is a young and handsome woman at Saratoga who wears a large diamond ring on each of her eight fingers whenever she is seen, whether at breakfast or by gaslight. She also wears diamonds in her hair, large solitaires in her ears, bracelets and pings set with these rare jewels, and one night she wore a diamond cross five or six inches long. A saucy letter-writer says she is suspected of also having anklets and garters clasped with diamonds as well as shoe buckles. Who she is, is a mystery, and she is popularly referred to as "The Diamond Princess."

Among the Washington young women who move in the extremely select circle of the army and navy it is considered highly improper to attend a concert or theater, even with one's fiancé without the chaperonage of mamma or maiden aunt. A ride alone, or even a call, without the presence of a third party, is not to be spoken of, and young men find their maidens well watched and guarded. But one evening a mother was too sick to go to the play, and young woman for her once consented to go alone with the man to whom she was engaged. "I suffered agony all the time for fear we should see somebody I knew, and I never felt so in all my life."
 Everybody remembers Nellie Hubbard, the daughter of an ex-governor of Connecticut, who ran away with, and married her father's coachman. Well, she is now working away at the dress-making business, and lives happily with her husband, although her pa has not forgiven her.

"The Rights of an American."

[Rochester Democrat.]

He was about five foot five or thereabouts, stoutly built, and dressed in a suit of faded black. His face was round and somewhat studious in expression, to which a heavy pair of glasses greatly added. In either hand was a carpet bag of ancient style while the high hat was of the kind which went out of date in the spring of 1859.

He came through the long hall of the central depot with the air of a man who considers no one his superior, but when the man at the gate said, "Ticket, sir," he looked rather wild.

"What am I, a hog?" he muttered, dropping both carpet bags in the doorway.

The doorkeeper quietly pushed the carpet bags aside, and the crowd went in and out, while the old man raised both hands and declared he had been twenty-seven years in this country and had "the rights of an American."

The passage-way was blocked in a moment, and then Detectives Kavanagh and Brown came, but he would go no way save to the train. He had a ticket for Buffalo, but would show it only to the conductor. The officers saw at once that it was a peculiar case and at once seized his bags and himself and rushed him into the depot, he at all times protesting about his long residence in America and his rights.

Then he was placed on the train, but with some difficulty, his loud tone and active gesticulations affording amusement to the crowd attracted to him.

Once inside the car he quietly sat down beside his carpet-bags, muttering over and over, "My ticket, yes, I keep my ticket all right."

Napoleon.

[Mme. De Remusat.]

"I was educated," he said, "at a military school. Every one said of me, 'That child will never be good for anything but geometry.' I had chosen a little corner of the school grounds where I would sit and dream at my ease, for I have always liked reverie.

When my companions tried to usurp possession of this corner, I defended it with all my might. I already knew by instinct that my will was to override that of others, and that what pleased me was to belong to me. I was not liked at school. It takes time to make one's self liked; and even when I had nothing to do, I always felt vaguely that I had no time to lose. I entered the service, and soon grew tired of garrison work. I began to read novels, and they interested me deeply. I even tried to write some. I often let myself dream, in order that I might afterwards measure my dreams by the compass of my reason. I threw myself into an ideal world, and I endeavored to find out in what precise points it differed from the actual world in which I lived. I have always liked analysis, and if I were to be seriously in love, I should analyze my love bit by bit. I conquered, rather than studied history. I did not care to retain, and did not retain, anything that could not give me a new idea; I disdained all that was useless, but took possession of certain results which pleased me."

Love never enters into Chinese stories. The hero is always a chap who has made his ducats in America by laundry work, and the heroine is a girl who wants revenge on him because he killed her cat.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.
For thirty years Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has been kept for sale by druggists generally, but in all that time there has not been a single complaint made, but on the contrary the druggists and the people acknowledge it to be the best remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma and all lung diseases.

An Iowa woman sent his wife to a prayer meeting to prepare herself for death, as he intended to kill her when she returned. She went, but didn't go back.

DON'T MAKE A MISTAKE.
Why will you use salves and lotions and other outward appliances for the cure of skin diseases? The relief thus obtained is only temporary. Why not strike at the root of all skin diseases by getting your blood and liver in a healthy, vigorous condition? This can only be done effectively and thoroughly by the use of Dr. Guyott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla.

A husband eloped from Portage, Wis., with a widow and her two daughters. After traveling as far as La Crosse, he deserted the mother and one daughter, disappearing with the prettiest one of the girls.

NOW IS THE TIME.
Don't wait until you are nearly dead and bed-ridden. Don't wait until you find, to your sorrow, that mineral poisons and alcoholic stimulants, bitters, etc., will only aggravate diseases of the blood, kidneys and liver. But now, before another day passes, make haste to procure and use Dr. Guyott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. It never fails to cure all blood and skin diseases, all liver complaints and urinary troubles.

Thomas Young, of Perkinsville, Ind., looked into the mouth of a cannon to see if it was loaded, while somebody touched it off. His head was blown off.

A QUEER NOTION.
Many people think it cheaper to buy 25 cent sizes of a proprietary medicine. But they make a mistake. For instance, Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry contains eight times the quantity of ordinary 25 cent cough balsams. Besides it takes a less quantity of Wistar's Balsam to cure a cold. A single dose is often sufficient. For deep-seated Colds and Consumption it has proven itself to be the best and quickest cure ever discovered.

CHEAP HACK FARE.—For many years New Yorkers have been trying to secure as cheap hack hire as they have in London and Paris, but hacking seems to still be a luxury with them, which only the rich can indulge in. Why hack at all? Hall's Balsam will positively cure all hacking coughs and colds. 52tf

A Wonderful Discovery.
For the speedy cure of Consumption and all diseases that lead to it, such as stubborn Coughs, neglected Colds Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Asthma pain in the side and chest, dry hacking cough tickling in the throat, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, and all chronic or lingering diseases of the throat and lungs, Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal and has established for itself a worldwide reputation. Many leading physicians recommend and use it in their practice. The formula from which it is prepared is highly recommended by all medical journals. The clergy and the press have complimented it in the most glowing terms. Go to your druggist and get a trial bottle for ten cents, or a regular size for $1. For sale at Allen's Drug Store. 122

The Fear of Fat.

[London Lancet.]

No doubt it is unpleasant to be excessively obese; but the morbid dread of fat which has in recent years become fashionable has no foundation in physiological fact. Fat answers two purposes—it acts as a non-conducting envelope for the body, and protects it from too rapid loss of heat, and it serves as a store of fuel.

In the course of exhausting diseases it not unfrequently happens that the life of a patient may be prolonged until the reserve of fat is exhausted, and then he dies of inanition.

Fats supply the material of the heating process on which vitality mainly depends. In great excess it is inconvenient; but the external layings on of fat is no certain measure of the internal development of adipose tissue; much less does a tendency to grow fat imply, or even suggest, a tendency to what is known as "fatty degeneration." It is time to speak out on this point, as the most absurd notions seem to prevail.

Again, it is not true that special forms of food determine fat. That is an old and exploded notion. Some organisms will make fat, let them be fed on the leanest and scantiest and least saccharine descriptions of food, while others will not be "fattened" let them feed on the most "fattening" of diets. The matter is one in regard to which it is supremely desirable and politic to be natural, adapting the food taken to the requirements of health rather than substance. Simple food, sufficient exercise, and regular habits with moderation in the use of stimulants, compose the maxim of a safe and healthy way of life.

An Enterprising Newsboy.

[New York Herald.]

An energetic New York newsboy, discovering that the numerous villages on the Long Branch railroad were not served with the morning journals until nearly noon, chartered a small steambark on Monday morning and with a goodly supply of papers steamed for Red Bank, which he reached at half-past six a. m.

He dispatched another boy by wagon to Long Branch, who startled the villagers with the unexpected cry of "New York morning papers!" He did a capital business and disposed of nearly all his stock.

After this he boarded the eight o'clock train at the station and while in the act of clearing out the remainder he was stopped by Conductor Mulford, who seized his bundle of papers and locked them up in the mail car. President Reckless, of the road, happening to be in the train, was appealed to by the boy, the result being the restoration of his papers, which he quickly sold, and the administration of a severe rebuke to the conductor. The passengers, admiring the enterprise of the young fellow, raised a handsome sum for him then and there. Next day, however, his new business was nipped in the bud, a special news train, the result of the boy's scheme, being put on.

A Sensible Chapter on Amusements.

[Henry Ward Beecher at Cooper Institute.]

All amusements ought to counteract a man's business. If his business is chiefly muscular, his amusements ought to be brain amusements. Men whose occupations are sucking dry their brains day by day should have amusements in just an opposite direction. For instance, how absurd it would be to advise a lawyer for recreation, after working hard all day in court, to play chess, and it would be equally as absurd to say to a letter-carrier, who had been walking all day long, to take a walk after supper.

There are many men for whom there is no such amusement provided. Where can a clergyman go to amuse himself? Why, if I were to go out for amusements as many do, the reporters would go for me, and if I were to go to hear the 'Pinafore' the fact would be known all over the continent the next day.

Now, what provisions for amusements are made for lawyers and schoolmasters and merchants? Almost none. Our civilization makes but little provision for the various wants of these classes, so far as wholesome amusement is concerned.

Walking is good for a man, provided he has anything to walk for. Next to that is riding, and I don't know but if we could fly it would be better yet.

Horseback riding is a noble amusement. I think for a man to override a generous horse is brutal. I think for him to override him is stupid. And let me say that it is a great comfort to me when I open the book of Revelations and read that there are horses in heaven. Well, if horses and dogs don't have a hereafter I don't know what will become of their owners.

Workmen are entitled to amusements. They should be provided with concerts, and reading rooms and amusements which would send them back to their daily work, stronger in every respect. Any place with five thousand inhabitants that has not a reading room is not loyal to the true interests of the working people.

There are some amusements that are good for some men that would be bad for others. In every instance, even in his amusements, a man should cultivate the moral quality, for a man who should gain everything and lose his manhood, comes to be, in fact, nothing. It is the duty of a man to make his home the center of amusement for his family.

When I was in Germany I went to a great garden. There I saw family after family—old and young—sitting under trees and listening to the music. They were drinking lager beer, which I think—yes, I think they could have left that out. But when I came home and saw fathers going to Washington and other places for amusement—leaving their families for a week at a time, I said I would rather have the German with his lager than the amusement-seeking American with his separation from his family.

I think that the churches, industrial clubs or guilds should see to it that the people are provided with proper amusements.

George Herbert said: One good mother is worth a hundred schoolmasters. In the home she is the lodestone to all hearts, and lodestar to all eyes.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

It is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brassy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The Vigor cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The Vigor is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

In some quarters it is thought that this appointment is the preliminary step to closer relations than have yet existed between the Vandalia and Pennsylvania lines, and that they will be eventually consolidated.
 The Crawfordsvillians got scared and manipulated things at the Montgomery County Fair, last week, so that their own "Rosewood" took second money in the trot. The scare was caused by Mel. McHaffie's horse, Frank L.; the manipulations consisted in barring the last named, avowing as a reason that he had a record of 2:18, while the truth is, Frank L. is a comparatively green horse, and has no such record.

Asbury and Conference.

The Indiana Conference, in session at New Albany Saturday last, heard and unanimously adopted the report of the committee on education, a summary of which is as follows:

TAE INDIANA ASBURY UNIVERSITY.
 With unforgotten gratitude to Almighty God we note the healthy condition and substantial progress of our university.

The magnificent and expensive structure now called the East Hall has been finely finished and furnished, with the exception of three rooms on the basement floor. In the expansion of the work, these have been and are used for recitation and laboratory purposes in their partially finished condition. For very many reasons they should be completed as speedily as possible. When done, this grand structure, in all its perfection and amplitude, will stand out as a worthy monument to Christian benevolence, and a tower of strength for the Redeemer's kingdom. Thanks unto God and the noble men and women who have aided in this result.

Over a year ago the hearts of our people were saddened by the destruction by fire of the old college building. It is gratifying to know that its prompt reconstruction and very considerable enlargement immediately followed. For the purposes of convenient and successful study and instruction, this building is remarkably well-arranged. Its stories are fifteen, seventeen and twenty-five feet in height, besides the basement. The rooms are large, well-ventilated and heated by steam. The structure is called West Hall, and, though less expensive, is nearly as commodious as the East Hall. When the two large rooms now being finished for library purposes by our beloved and honored brother Newkirk, of Connersville, are finished, all the rooms except three will be completed. Two of these in their partly finished condition, are, of necessity now used. We trust some friends of Christian education will soon find it in their hearts to finish these rooms, and while thus aiding the university will, at the same time, as associate their names with the noble men and women who have already contributed to the completion of our halls.

In addition to the completion of the few rooms above referred to, a building suitable for boarding purposes would be a most desirable acquisition. Within the last few years a number of so-called normal schools have sprung up within the field of our patronage, the main attraction of which is the low rate at which boarding is furnished. We must supply like accommodations or see many turn away who would otherwise prefer the more thorough and extended instructions and studies furnished in our halls. Would that those whom God has honored as stewards of his manifold mercies could see and feel as they should the privilege and responsibility of responding to this call.

In this connection the desirableness of a continued increase of permanent fund is not to be lost sight of. A comparison is sometimes unfairly made between Asbury and other institution possessing twice its income. Had we the means of increasing the number of our departments of study possessed by them, who can for a moment doubt we would see equal results? These facts should be known to the church, and earnest, constant effort made to secure its enlargement.

It must not be thought no progress has been made in these directions. In addition to the erection and almost entire completion and furnishing of the fine buildings now possessed by the university—referred to at the beginning of this report—we see in the two last issues of the College catalogue a detailed acknowledgment of moneys and contributions of about forty thousand dollars. More than half of this sum goes to the permanent endowment. This has enabled the board to keep up the full number already in the faculty, and to add one additional professor to the department of natural science. It is also exceedingly gratifying to notice the large number of thirty-one enrolled in the biblical class, and to the enlargements in other departments, and generally improved methods of instruction and work.

May we not hope that when the pressure of needful attentions to the outward interests of the institution, that during the last few years has rested so heavily on those in charge, has passed away; when the reaction occasioned by certain changes in the instructors which the trustees have seen fit to make has abated, and when the necessity of teachers and students working at the risk of health and life in the cold, unfinished rooms no longer exist, our beloved "Asbury" shall share largely in the advantages of these better times? To this end let us exert ourselves especially to see that the advantages are brought and kept before all people and friends; that the duty and privilege of farther contributions to its advancement be lovingly but earnestly pressed on the attention of those able to assist, and that we individually and actively exert ourselves to prevent the youth of our families from being diverted to other institutions unfriendly, if not hostile to us, as a branch of the great Christian church and to send them and all we can reach, to fill up the halls so dear to us all, by the good it has accomplished and is now so grandly doing, and by the memories of the fathers who have transmitted it to our keeping.

Resolved, That the fidelity to the church, to the work and memory of the Fathers and especially to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, requires that we should do all in our power to promote the efficiency and enlarge the influence for good of the Indiana Asbury University.

Resolved, That we will preach upon the subject of education and recommend the University to the special liberality of our friends and people during the coming year.

Resolved, That we will give immediate and personal attention to the work of endeavoring to increase the attendance of students from all our charges.

OHIO FARMERS INSURANCE COMPANY.

[Indiana Farmer, Aug. 7.]
 Eastern insurance journals, in the interest of of eastern insurance companies, assail the Ohio Farmer Company as the "Buckeye Granger," committing depredations on their business in Indiana. The following letter shows how the Hoosier grangers appreciate this company:

MARION, July 1, 1880.
 T. F. SAWYER, ESQ., INDIANAPOLIS:
 Dear Sir—The farmers of this section have watched with much interest the combined efforts of several eastern companies to force the Ohio Farmers Fire Insurance Company from the State. The farmers of Indiana are beginning to regard the Ohio Farmers Company as their own institution and will stand by and defend it, while it sustains the reputation of honorable and fair dealing that it has established in our midst. It is a Western institution, identified with our home interests, and as such we appreciate it. I could but admire the firm, manly and disinterested course of Gen. Manson, Auditor of State, in his impartial decision of the case submitted to him. This, however, is only characteristic of the man. He not only does worth a cent. Wishing the Ohio Farmers Insurance Company abundant prosperity.

I am yours respectfully,
 HENRY JAMES,
 Ex-Master Ind. State Grange.

For great enterprises, railroads and magnificent business houses, Indianapolis is not behind any of the great western cities. Her wholesale and retail stores, as, for instance, the great retail carpet house of A. L. Wright & Co., on Meridian St., for completeness of stock and low prices, are not excelled by any in Cincinnati, St. Louis or Chicago.

Chas. Soehner, the veteran piano and organ dealer, is still at his old stand, 30 North Pennsylvania St., Indianapolis, and by selling reliable and durable instruments has made his house famous. 2122

Mixing Prisoners in Jail.

[Later-Ocean.]

The annual report of the Massachusetts board of prison commissioners contains some suggestions of general interest in regard to prison management and reform. The report insists strongly on the idea that reform should be an important element of all punishment. Keeping this in view, the board regard the indiscriminate mingling of all classes and grades of prisoners as a very vicious system.

This practice prevails in the county jails as well as in the State prison of Massachusetts, and so far as we know, of all other States. On this point the report says: "There are in the State prison and in the various county prisons a large number of prisoners who should be treated with a view to their reformation as the first aim."

They include many young men who have unwittingly been led into crime, or who have fallen, almost without knowing it, under the power of a great temptation. They do not specially need punishment for their own sakes; but their offenses cannot be overlooked, and they generally recognize the justice of their sentences.

They have no desire to be criminals; many of them desire to become good citizens. The existing prison system gives them little or no assistance in the right direction. They are associated with the vilest and most depraved in the workshops, and treated precisely as are the most abandoned.

They have one thing in common: they are all offenders against the laws of the State, a fact which brings them to a common level—often the lowest level. For this class of prisoners, the board recommends the establishment of a small reformatory for male prisoners. Hard labor, a common school and mechanical schools in which the use of tools should be taught, are the leading features proposed.

For kindred reasons the association of untried prisoners with convicts in county jails is strongly condemned.

In regard to the reformatory prison for women, the report says that two years of experience have demonstrated conclusively that an institution of this kind can be successfully managed and controlled by women, and expresses the opinion that the importance of the experiment of a reformatory prison for women is not fully realized, nor is its capacity for usefulness properly appreciated.

How Big is Man?

[Scientific News.]

Somehow when a man's mind becomes really enlarged say, like that of Baron Humboldt, and he is able to place in focus more and more of the cosmos of which he forms a part, the things he at the outset of his life regards as the largest get smaller and smaller, till at last that first immense and overwhelmingly important thing, himself, becomes so insignificant that it is only through a process of mental microscopy he can discern his little identity among the animalculae that float, swim, or wriggle across the field of view.

How big is a man anyhow? Well, he is smaller than an elephant, and an elephant is smaller than a mountain, and a mountain is smaller than the world, and the world is a mustard seed compared with the sun, and the sun itself is a mere mote in the dust cloud of spheres that stretches out through the universe beyond the reach of thought. Suppose we could make an exact model of the earth eighty feet in diameter.

Eighty feet in diameter would be a pretty large ball as balls go on the face of this planet. Assume, for the sake of calculation, the diameter of the earth to be exactly 8,000 miles, and let us proceed to build our model to scale.
 A mountain five miles high should represent on our model 5-80,000th of 80 feet or 6-10 of an inch. An elephant built in proportion should be 1-4,400th of an inch in height, and an average man 7-52,800th of an inch tall. An army of 26,400 such men standing shoulder to shoulder in single straight rank would require their general to gallop over a space of one inch to pass them all under review. With a smart horse of proportionate size, ridden at a brisk gallop, he could accomplish this distance in about an hour.

Viewed in this way a man is a mere mite crawling over the face of the globe, yet he has had the arrogance to think the universe was formed for him more than for other insects, and that the Ruling Intelligence had him pre-eminently in view in bringing order out of chaos.

Average Human Consistency.

[Old City Derrick.]

"If ye please, mum, the cook has boomed her hand, an' axes to be excused for a few days, for it's most crazy she iz wid de pain."

"Indeed, Bridget, I'll do nothing of the sort. I expect to dinner to-morrow several prominent members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the cook must do her work or find another place, pain or no pain."

The Size of Illinois.

The extreme length of Illinois, north and south, is 378 miles. The width of the state varies, being at one section 210 miles; but the average width is 150 miles more or less. The area of the state is 55,415 miles, over 35,000,000 acres.

A SWEDISH POEM.

It matters little where I was born,
 Or if my parents were rich or poor;
 Whether they shrank at the cold world's scorn,
 Or walked in the pride of wealth secure;
 But whether I live an honest man,
 And hold my integrity firm in my clutch,
 I tell you, brother, plain as I am,
 It matters much!

It matters little how long I stay
 In a world of sorrow, sin and care;
 Whether in youth I am called away,
 Or live till my bones and pate are bare;
 But whether I do the best I can
 To soften the weight of adversity's touch
 On the faded cheek of my fellow-man,
 It matters much!

It matters little where be my grave,
 On the land or on the sea;
 By purring brook or noisy stormy wave,
 It matters little or naught to me;
 But whether the angel Death comes down
 And marks my brow with his loving touch;
 As one that shall wear the victor's crown,
 It matters much!

Elder Badger, by request, preaches from the following text to-morrow morning: "I form the light and create darkness; I make peace and create evil; I, the Lord, do all these things."—Isaiah, 45-7.

Mr. Starr, Press Agent with Barnum's show, is a courteous gentleman, fully up to his business, and calculated to make friends for both self and the management, wherever he goes.

Last Saturday the most spirited debate of the canvass was held at the Court House, Messrs. Welch and Neff, opposing candidates for Representative, being the oratorical gladiators engaged. The Louse was packed, the best of feeling prevailed, and the crowd was, undoubtedly, amused, entertained and instructed.

Barnum's Circus and Menagerie spread its canvass in this city on Thursday last, and drew such a crowd as only P. T. Barnum can draw. The exhibition itself is, without doubt, the most complete on the road, in all its appointments, while the talent engaged is the best. We have not space, though we have the desire, to particularize, but of the novelties with the show of 1880, we wish to say we have never seen them equalled. The "Zazel" did all advertised, while the trained oxen are perfect in their work beyond belief; Madame Nelson, with her doves, is a new and pleasing feature, and the riding of Madame Dockrill, Sebastian and Hollis, is the best in their lines. Persons who take to circuses, missed it if they did not attend Barnum's, on Thursday last.

We are pleased to note the fact that the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad is proceeding to carry out the plans for the improvement of its road, the bonds issued for that purpose having been disposed of. Several new coaches have been placed on the line, and three new sleepers are about to be added. The work on the improvement of the road-bed, bridges, &c., has also been commenced. Few ties and rails are being distributed, and it is the intention to make the improvements as complete as possible. The freight business of this road has largely improved during the last few weeks. It has now a larger freight traffic than it can handle with its present rolling stock, and has had to borrow several locomotives lately from its northern connection. Eight new locomotives are now being constructed for this road.

Brick Chapel Fair.

Brick Chapel Fair, held at the grounds about two miles north of this city, was quite a success this year, especially so far as exhibits were concerned. A walk over the grounds on Tuesday was time well spent. The horse and cattle stalls were all filled, while the supply of sheep and hog pens was not sufficient to accommodate the stock entered, and new ones had to be built. The show of hogs, sheep, poultry and products of the farm was very fine. Among the gentlemen exhibiting live stock were Messrs. Peck, Sweeney, O'Hair, Hall, Farrow, Miller, Lafollet, Garner, Linley, Randolph, Allen, Thornton, Smiley Bros., Nutgrass, McGill, Brothers, Turner, Gosling, Foshier & Bro., Priest, Smith, Glover and Lewis. In Floral Hall the exhibits were excellent, and notable among them were Cole Bros.' Lightning Rods, Domestic Sewing machine work, Hardware exhibit of J. D. Stevenson & Son, floral exhibit of John Wilson, and harness by E. Hibbitt, while the ladies' handiwork, in the way of table comforts, needle work etc., was well represented by Mrs. Farrow, Mrs. Crow, Miss Mattie Allison, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Etter, Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Ferrand and others whose names we failed to learn. Chas. Webster was also on hand showing a churn. Fine fruits were exhibited by Messrs. Hillis, Priest, Cooper, Chandler, Wood, Glover, Foshier, Gardner, Webster, Talbott and Allen. The poultry show by Messrs. Smiley, Allen and others was excellent. In agricultural Hall there was as fine a display of grains, seeds, vegetables, etc., as is generally found at any fair in the most favorable seasons. The attendance at the Fair on Wednesday was small, far too small for the merits of the show, but we learn the attendance on Thursday and Friday was much larger.

Next week we are promised the list of premiums awarded, for publication, so look out all ye that are interested.

Court Proceedings.

The following cases have been disposed of since our last:

Franklin Life Ins. Co. vs. Asa O. and Chas. T. Fordyce.—On note. Dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

Wm. A. Brown vs. James Brown et al.—Partition and land sale. Order for payment of share of proceeds of sale of Amanda Harrah to plaintiff.

First National Bank of Greencastle vs. Leah Torr, executrix, &c., and J. M. Torr.—On note. Judgment by agreement by agreement for $432 and costs.

The following Grand Jury was empaneled on Monday:

Wm. Earp, Thomas J. Sigler, Jas. T. Miller, Joel H. Shinn, James Rightsell and J. B. Cooper. Joel H. Shinn was appointed foreman and J. Will Cookerly bailiff to the Grand Jury.

The cases of the prisoners in jail are expected to be disposed of the present week.

The celebrated "Lilly, Brackett & Co." men's fine shoes can be purchased at only one place in Greencastle. P. R. Christie is the sole agent for them. One look will satisfy any good judge that they possess all the merit claimed for them: the best quality of stock, the best fitting and best finished shoes that are manufactured in the United States. If you want a good shoe or boot of any kind, don't fail to call at Christie's shoe store, near the National Bank. You will get a better quality for the same amount of money than at any other place.

Elder E. D. Thomas, of Danville, Ind., will preach at Palestine church, in Floyd township, the first Saturday and Sunday in October. The ordinance of Baptism will be administered on Sunday.

Services at Locust Street Church to-morrow as follows: Preaching at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the new pastor, Rev. J. L. Pitner. Sabbath School at 2 p. m.; temperance lesson—1st Cor., 9:24-27. Prof. Post has charge of the students' class. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Marriage licenses have been issued to John F. Tucker and Ella Dille, Samuel Dickey and Sarah Jane Crews, Richard M. Buntin and Mary T. Buntin, Thomas Halloway and Amanda Starr, Eli Mercer and Arabella Moreland, Fred S. Hackett and Elizabeth Heavin, Nelson C. Priest and Charity L. Lewis, Sterling McCamack and Orlena Miller, Charles C. McLain and Emma E. Lane.

A dispatch from Cloverdale, dated Sept. 15 says: During a political meeting at Catawact, Owen County, yesterday, which was addressed by Colonel C. C. Matson, a crowd of young men and boys were engaged in firing salutes. An old piece of mill-pipe was used for the purpose, and burst, scattering the pieces in all directions. Manford Stevens, a young man from Jordan village, received a severe wound by a large piece of the pipe coming in contact with his leg. He was crippled severely, but his wound is not dangerous.

At the Indiana M. E. Conference, in session at New Albany, the following appointments were made by the Bishop and read on Monday: Indianapolis District, John Pouchar, P. E. Belleville, Wm. McGinness, Brooklyn, Joseph Wharton. Eminence, Supplied by W. A. Fox, Greencastle, Locust Street, J. L. Pitner. Indianapolis, Ames, George F. Culmer, California Street, E. T. Curnick; Meridian Street, H. J. Talbott. Martinsville, J. E. Brant. Mooresville, T. G. Beharrell. Monrovia, James V. Moore. Morgantown, James D. Crane. Putnamville, Miles Woods. Quincy, Joseph Rawlins. Waverly, C. W. Woods. West Newton, A. F. Bridges.

The Indianapolis Journal of Tuesday last says: Dr. James H. Taylor, assistant demonstrator of anatomy at the Medical College of Indiana, and Miss Lelia E. Kern, a very popular young lady of the eastern part of the city, were married last night at Roberts Park Church, in the presence of a large number of invited guests, Bishop Bowman officiating. The attendants were Miss Jennie Herr, of Brazil; Miss Emma Blake, of Greencastle, and Misses Ida Henry and Agnes Lennes, city; Messrs. O. E. Holloway, city; C. W. DePauw, New Albany; W. W. Taylor, Greencastle, and C. E. Finney, city. Doctor Taylor is one of the most promising young physicians of the city, and his wife has long been recognized as an amiable and accomplished lady. They have the heartiest wishes of many friends in their union.

A special to the Indianapolis Journal, dated Greencastle, Sept. 13 1880, is printed below, though we know nothing of the truth or falsity of the news contained therein. Here is the dispatch: Our Democratic Sheriff, Lewman, is still displaying his great love for the exodusters from North Carolina. Last Wednesday he led a party of twenty-one, including twelve voters, to Indianapolis, where he bought and gave them tickets to North Carolina. The affair was managed very quietly and was only discovered at the Union Depot by a gentleman from here, who recognized seven of them, and to whom they told their story. Sheriff Lewman has been actively engaged in this business since the exodus began, and as the election approaches will doubtless get rid of as many Republican voters as possible.

At a recent meeting of the Faculty and Board of Trustees of the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons of Indianapolis, Dr. R. F. Stone, of Bainbridge, was unanimously elected to the Chair of Special Therapeutics and Chemical medicine. Dr. Stone regrets to say that this appointment will necessitate his moving to the city by the first of October, and requests that we express his sincere thanks to the good people of northern Putnam for their liberal patronage during the past fifteen years, and the assurance that, while it causes him much pain to part with his old friends and patrons, yet it is a matter of pleasure and satisfaction that he can conscientiously recommend Dr. L. C. Clime, his partner and successor, as a successful physician, well qualified, and in every way worthy of the liberal patronage and confidence of the people.

TO THE LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

PROF. GUILMETTE'S FRENCH KIDNEY PAD

A Positive & Permanent Cure Guaranteed

In all cases of Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Incontinence and Retention of the Urine, Induration of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, High Colored Urine, Pain in the Back, Side or Loins, Nervous weakness, and in fact all disorders of the Bladder and Urinary Organs, whether contracted by private diseases or otherwise, this great remedy has been used with success for nearly ten years in France, with the most wonderful curative effects. It cures by absorption; no nauseous internal medicines being required. We have hundreds of testimonials of cures by this Pad when all else had failed.

LADIES If you are suffering from Female Weakness, Leucorrhoea, or diseases peculiar to females, or in fact any disease of the Kidneys, ask your druggist for Prof. Guilmette's French Kidney Pad, and take no other. If he has not got it, send $2 and you will receive the Pad by return mail. Address U. S. Branch
